

Turbo Hiring Model

Job Description:

As an engineer your overall focus is on addressing customer requirements on time by following best in class Wipro processes and adopting right technology advances. You could work on enhancements to existing products as well as new product development. This requires an individual to be creative, a quick learner and driven to produce results. You will work as part of a team responsible for participating in the development, testing and debugging of projects in industry domains such as

- Automotive Infotainment
- Medical Devices and Systems
- Consumer Electronics in Set-Top-Box, Cloud DVR, etc.
- Mobile Platform and Application Development on Android, iOS
- Storage and Computing in Virtualization Platforms such as OpenStack

You will participate in activities that include and not limited to

- Embedded platform and host systems program development
- Enterprise platforms
- Test automation

Important Focus areas are

- Good Knowledge of programming language such as Core Java, C/C++, C#, .Net, Web services, HTML5
- System programming on OS such as Linux, Windows, RTOS
- Automation using scripting languages such Perl, Python etc